

Kushagra Patwa

Who am I?

As the Universe's Favourite Kid, I embrace all changes - the good, the bad, the ugly, and the beautiful that life offers with open arms, suspending judgements. I observe with a child-like curiosity.

Losing my spiritual guide, my best friend and my fiancé became the catalyst to find my noble purpose of empowering others on their journey of spiritual evolution.

I believe the top-down approach of evolving leaders spiritually is the sustainable and scalable way of changing the world.

My 10 words : noble purpose, transformation, relationships, karma, spirituality, desires, biochemistry, breathwork, visualisation, change

My values : authenticity, empathy, integrity, finesse, balance, friendship with fear and pain

My pledge - Why do I do what I do?

The world has never been more divided. I aim to make myself and GINPI the glue that holds it together, bound by the loving and caring embrace of a noble purpose.

I want to transform this world into a healthier, more playful and more aware place- one leader, team and organisation at a time.

What expertise I bring to GINPI clients?

By linking aspects of spirituality, psychoanalysis, biochemistry, breathwork and systems psychodynamics, I provide a holistic, fulfilling, more sustainable transformation. I am your shepherd to authentically connect with- yourself, others and the cosmos (Relationship Management).

I will help you to explore and integrate the inner truth behind your desires. I will enable you to excavate your true, noble purpose, usually hidden beneath the façade of false desires (Desire Management).

Leveraging visualisation and yogic techniques, I will be your advisor to nourish your life force and master the art of Energy Management.

What have I realised?

I've championed change, empowering individuals and organisations to embrace transformation as a catalyst for growth. I've counselled, advised and healed high-impact leaders, evolving them spiritually to navigate significant change events both personally and professionally

As a seasoned change agent, I've dedicated my career to harnessing human potential and leading transformative change. I've worked with global MNCs, healthcare organisations, and AI-first companies, driving organisational transformations, developing strategic partnerships, and creating significant business growth.

I have been constantly striving to do well and do good. Whether spreading breast cancer awareness, helping Europeans stuck in Goa during the pandemic, or fighting the deaths caused by prescription errors, I have been blessed to find a higher calling in my work and life.

My experience leading and transforming businesses helps me form an authentic and more empathic connection with fellow high-impact leaders when we embark on this sojourn of transformation together.

BASED

India

EDUCATION

- Executive Master in Change, INSEAD (Ongoing)
- Master in Business Administration, NMIMS
- Degree in Engineering, University of Mumbai

LANGUAGES

- English (fluent)
- Hindi (fluent)

INVOLVEMENT

- Head of Spiritual Advisory, GINPI
- Founder, KiNaB.in (Trauma Healing for underprivileged community)
- Co-founder, TalkDoc.Ai

GINPI

kushagra.patwa@ginpi.org
- +91 915 8885494